OFFICE OF EMERGENCY MEDICAL SERVICES

2003

FOREWORD

This is the third release of the "twenty-seventh" 2003 electronic edition of the North Carolina Emergency Medical Services Radio Dial Code Directory. The Dial Code Directory is updated annually by the North Carolina Office of Emergency Medical Services to provide information regarding the hospitals, EMS providers, and emergency communications facilities within North Carolina.

Listings are generally for the state standard UHF MED and VHF Emergency Medical Radio frequencies, 155.340 MHz and 155.280 MHz. These frequencies are designated by the North Carolina Emergency Medical Services Advisory Council for statewide emergency medical use and advanced medical control communication within the state. Additional information of administrative interest has also been added.

We attempt to provide current and accurate information, however, should you find an error or obsolete information, we appreciate your bringing it to our attention so we may revise our records.

The Office of Emergency Medical Services sincerely hopes this information will assist you in obtaining our mutual goal of better and more effective medical communications and EMS services to provide care for those who live and work in North Carolina. Should you have questions or comments regarding EMS communications, or desire to provide updated information for this directory, please address your correspondence to:

NC HAZARDOUS MATERIALS

Regional Response Team Program

The NC Hazardous Materials Regional Response Team (RRT) has been operational since 1996. The six (6) teams are located in Williamston, Wilmington, Fayetteville, Durham (RTP), Mt. Airy, and Asheville. The Hazardous Materials Regional Response Team program offers two types of assistance. The FIRST is response to a spill or release of hazardous materials. A twelve (12) person response team is available 24 hours per day. They can be accessed through the local county Emergency Management coordinator, through the 15 NC Division of Emergency Management Area Coordinators or their Eastern, Central, or Western Branch Offices. The SECOND type of assistance the Hazardous Materials Regional Response Team program provides is technical information. They can inform you of the hazards of specific chemicals. Calls requesting technical information should be placed to the specific RRT in that response territory. Team telephone numbers are listed below.

USING THIS BOOKLET

North Carolina agency information within this booklet is listed alphabetically by county. To locate a particular institution or agency when the county is known, consult the county alphabetic section of the booklet. If the county is unknown, consult the alphabetic agency index at the end of the booklet, then refer to the county alphabetic section.

USING THE DIGITAL DIAL

A digital dial on a VHF radio is normally connected so that it will key (turn on) the transmitter. After the dial is rotated, the transmitter sends a tone or (whistle sound)* that is interrupted as the tone is transmitted. When you have completed sending a number, the transmitter and tone will remain on for a short period of time, usually from three to six seconds. During this time interval it is impossible to transmit voice over the radio. Prior to making a voice announcement, give the radio sufficient time to turn off as indicated by the radio transmit light, then push the transmit button on the microphone or handset and speak into the microphone to make a voice announcement.

NOTE: The standard digital dial tone frequency for EMS radio systems in North Carolina is 1500 Hz \pm 1% negatively keyed after the presence of tone.

USING THE DIAL CODES

After you locate the institution you need to contact and have determined the appropriate frequency and dial code or touch tone numbers, set your radio to the frequency and listen to be sure you will not interfere with a communication in progress. Then dial or touch the number as you would a telephone. Remember, however, that radio equipment does not ring as a telephone. After you have dialed, you must make a voice announcement addressing the agency you desire to contact to alert them to the call.

The following procedure is suggested:

1. Locate the required dial code number.
2. Select the radio frequency.
3. Monitor the frequency to be sure you will not interfere.
4. Dial the dial code number.
5. After waiting for the transmit light to turn off, make an announcement over the microphone stating:
 - a. who you are calling, followed by
 - b. your identification and
 - c. the frequency you are calling on

For example, dial the number, then say, "_____ Hospital, this is _____ ambulance (rescue squad) calling on 'three-four-oh.' How do you hear us? Over."

After receiving an acknowledgement or response, state the reason for your contact and proceed with your business. When you have completed a call, always give your complete radio identification, your radio license call sign, and state you are "clear" the frequency.

HELISTOP/HELIPAD

Within the Hospital Agency listings, the  symbol indicates there is a helipad or heli-stop reported to be located at the hospital.

EMERGENCY MEDICAL DISPATCH PROVIDER

Within the Communication Center listings, the  symbol indicates the communication center is an approved EMD provider.

USAGE OF THE VHF FREQUENCIES

The VHF frequencies 155.280 MHz and 155.340 MHz have been selected as statewide standard VHF frequencies. To assist in standardization of usage of these two frequencies, the following is required:

The frequency 155.280 MHz is designated primarily for mutual aid calls. The frequency may be utilized for dispatch purposes on a secondary noninterference basis; however, for new or modified systems, it is suggested that an alternate frequency be selected for dispatching.

The frequency 155.340 MHz is to be dedicated to communication between ambulance treatment teams and hospital personnel directing treatment of patients prior to arrival at a hospital or treatment facility. This frequency is to be used only for this purpose. This frequency is for emergency communication associated with the care of sick or injured persons. Information exchanged on this frequency must be pertinent to the treatment of the patient at the scene or while en route to the proper treatment center. This frequency is not to be used for dispatching, paging or interfacility communications.

The Office of Emergency Medical Services has technical staff available to assist you in selecting frequencies, equipment, or planning your communications system. Please feel free to contact the Office of Emergency Medical Services to discuss your plans.

USAGE OF THE UHF MED FREQUENCIES

The North Carolina Medical Communications Network (NCMCN) is a medical UHF radio system under development in the state. The NCMCN system uses a structured frequency plan and has established one channel for all initial calling or contact. The state calling channel is MED 10. It is important that all users of the UHF system use this contact channel to prevent interference to medical communication that may be in progress on the other UHF medical channels.

NCMCN RADIO CALLING PROCEDURE

1. Set the radio channel selector to MED 10 and select the appropriate subaudible tone squelch frequency (B through K) of the nearest MED 10 regional mobile relay.
2. Call the county CMED and ask for a MED channel to communicate to the hospital using the following sequence, filling in the blanks as appropriate: "_____ County CMED, this is _____ ambulance (rescue squad) calling on MED 10, Tone (B through K)."
3. When the CMED answers, notify them of your needs, the hospital you want to speak to, and your approximate location. The CMED will assign you a working MED channel.
4. Switch your radio to the channel and tone assigned by the CMED and talk to the hospital.
5. When you have finished, clear the channel with your radio call sign and unit identifier.
6. Return to MED 10 and the proper tone and confirm to the CMED that the assigned MED channel is clear.

STANDARIZATION OF IDENTIFIERS

FREQUENCY IDENTIFIERS

The frequencies 155.340 MHz and 155.280 MHz are used throughout the state. Additionally note that many hospitals monitor both of these frequencies simultaneously, but do not have a means of determining which frequency they are receiving at any given time. It is therefore necessary for the calling station to make an announcement of what frequency is being used. The terms "frequency one," "F1," "channel one or two," "regional frequency," "local frequency," "area channel," etc., are not descriptive or standardized widely enough to be effective as identification of what frequency is being used. Likewise, these markings (REGIONAL, LOCAL, etc.) are not standardized and vary from radio to radio.

Since many times EMS units transfer patients to other counties, what is "F1" on your radio may not be "F1" in the other county or area. To standardize the identification of frequencies and totally identify the frequency being used, it is necessary to state the frequency in its entirety. This, however, is inconvenient. To help establish a universal statewide North Carolina standard, the following abbreviations should be used:

Frequency 155.280 MHz, say "280"
Frequency 155.340 MHz, say "340"

Every radio user in North Carolina using the above frequencies should know which of their frequencies is 155.340 MHz ("340") or 155.280 MHz ("280"). If you do not presently know which of your frequencies is 280 or 340, call your OEMS Regional Specialist listed in this booklet. They have special radio equipment to identify your frequencies and will be happy to help you.

RADIO IDENTIFICATION

To avoid confusion when communicating over the radio, especially when communicating to someone out of your normal operating area, always use your complete identification. It is not sufficient to simply state "This is Unit 12" or "Rescue One." Many counties have the same identifiers, and most hospitals communicate to more than one provider. It is very confusing to try to talk to two "Rescue One" units at the same time.

To help alleviate some of this confusion, you, give your city or county name before your unit identifier. For example, say, "This is Guilford County Rescue One," not simply "This is Rescue One."

CHANGING OR UPDATING LISTINGS

Information in this booklet can be changed by contacting the Office of Emergency Medical Services by telephone, letter, or email.

When requesting information to be changed, please clearly state in your request the purpose and nature of the change, as well as any other descriptive information which may be helpful in keeping your information current and updated.

REQUESTING A DIAL CODE NUMBER

Dial Code (interrupted tone) is no longer the preferred method for establishing communications between units from different agencies. Most units are using multiple CTCSS tone access. Dial number assignments, however, (for new base stations or existing base stations) may still be obtained from the Office of Emergency Medical Services by completing a "Request for VHF Base Station Radio Digital Dial Access Number Assignment" form (DFS Form 1019). The form is available from the Office of Emergency Medical Services. Issuance of a dial number by the Office of Emergency Medical Services will automatically include the newly assigned number in the next edition of the Dial Code Directory. When requesting a new dial number, please describe the reason for the request. For example, is the new number to be incorporated in a new radio base station (one not yet purchased), or is it to be incorporated in an existing base station not previously assigned a digital dial code number? Any other information describing your communication operations, when the number or equipment will become operational, the radio equipment, or commentary regarding the effectiveness of your radio operation, plans, etc., is greatly appreciated.

UHF MED COMMUNICATION

All UHF MED radio systems must be coordinated and supported by the North Carolina Office of Emergency Medical Services. The Federal Communications Commission will not issue radio licenses for these frequencies without a letter of support from the OEMS. All changes or modifications to medical radio systems or UHF MED networks must be filed with the Office of Emergency Medical Services so the systems may be coordinated and possible interference avoided. Please contact the Communications Section of the North Carolina Office of Emergency Medical Services with questions or for assistance in obtaining a radio license or implementing a medical radio system.

EMERGENCY MEDICAL RADIO SERVICE (EMRS)

All users of medical radio frequencies must obtain and maintain the proper radio license. Care must always be taken not to interfere with any radio traffic in progress. Always listen on a frequency before transmitting.

The FCC rules and regulations are codified in Title 47 of the Code of Federal Regulations <http://wireless.fcc.gov/rules.html>. These rules govern who is eligible to license a transmitter and the specific frequencies and equipment configuration allowed.

The FCC Rules applicable to EMS communications are on line at:

http://www.access.gpo.gov/nara/cfr/waisidx_01/47cfr90_01.html

Printed copies of the FCC Rules are available from the U.S. Superintendent of Documents Government Printing Office. <http://bookstore.gpo.gov/support/index.html>. The FCC requires all licensees to have access to a copy of the Rules and to be familiar with them. Printed copies of the FCC Rules can be obtained from:

Superintendent of Documents
U.S. Government Printing Office
Post Office Box 371954
Pittsburgh, PA 15250-7954
Telephone Toll-Free: 1-888-293-6498
FAX (202) 512-1262
E-Mail: gpoaccess@gpo.gov

Prior to operating a radio transmitter, a license must be obtained from the Federal Communications Commission. In the Private Land Mobile Radio Services (PLMR) license is obtained by completing and filing FCC Form 601. <http://www.fcc.gov/Forms/Form601/601.pdf>. In addition to the license application, "frequency coordination" must be undertaken.

Current radio licenses must be maintained for all frequencies and transmitters operated by any EMS provider, hospital, rescue squad or other provider. Per FCC Rule 90.437 the original license shall be retained as a permanent part of the station records. A clearly legible photocopy of the authorization for each base or fixed station shall be posted at every control point of the station.

To obtain a radio license, consult FCC Rules Subpart F, paragraph 1.901 through 1.923, which provides information on the procedure to be followed. There is a requirement for formal frequency coordination under FCC Rules Section 90.175. Frequency coordination in the Emergency Medical Radio Service or in the Special Emergency Radio Service is obtained by contacting:

Fire/EMS Frequency Coordination
IMSA/IAFC
Post Office Box 1513
Providence, RI 02901

To obtain an FCC license, complete FCC Form 601 "FCC Application for Wireless Telecommunications Bureau Radio Service Authorization." This form is available by calling the FCC Forms Distribution Center at 1-800-418-3676 or downloading the form from the FCC web site at <http://www.fcc.gov/formpage.html>. The Form 601 is available in several formats at this web site including PDF and zip.

FCC Rule section 90.20(a)(1)(iii) requires that radio license applications in the Emergency Medical Radio Service be accompanied by a letter from the Office Of Emergency Medical Services supporting the application. The essential components of this statement attest that:

- the applicant provides basic or advanced life support services on a ongoing basis
- the application is in conformance with the state EMS communications plan
- the statement is supported by an authorized signature

The State OEMS has established a method by which this letter is provided. Contact the Office of Emergency Medical Services for assistance.

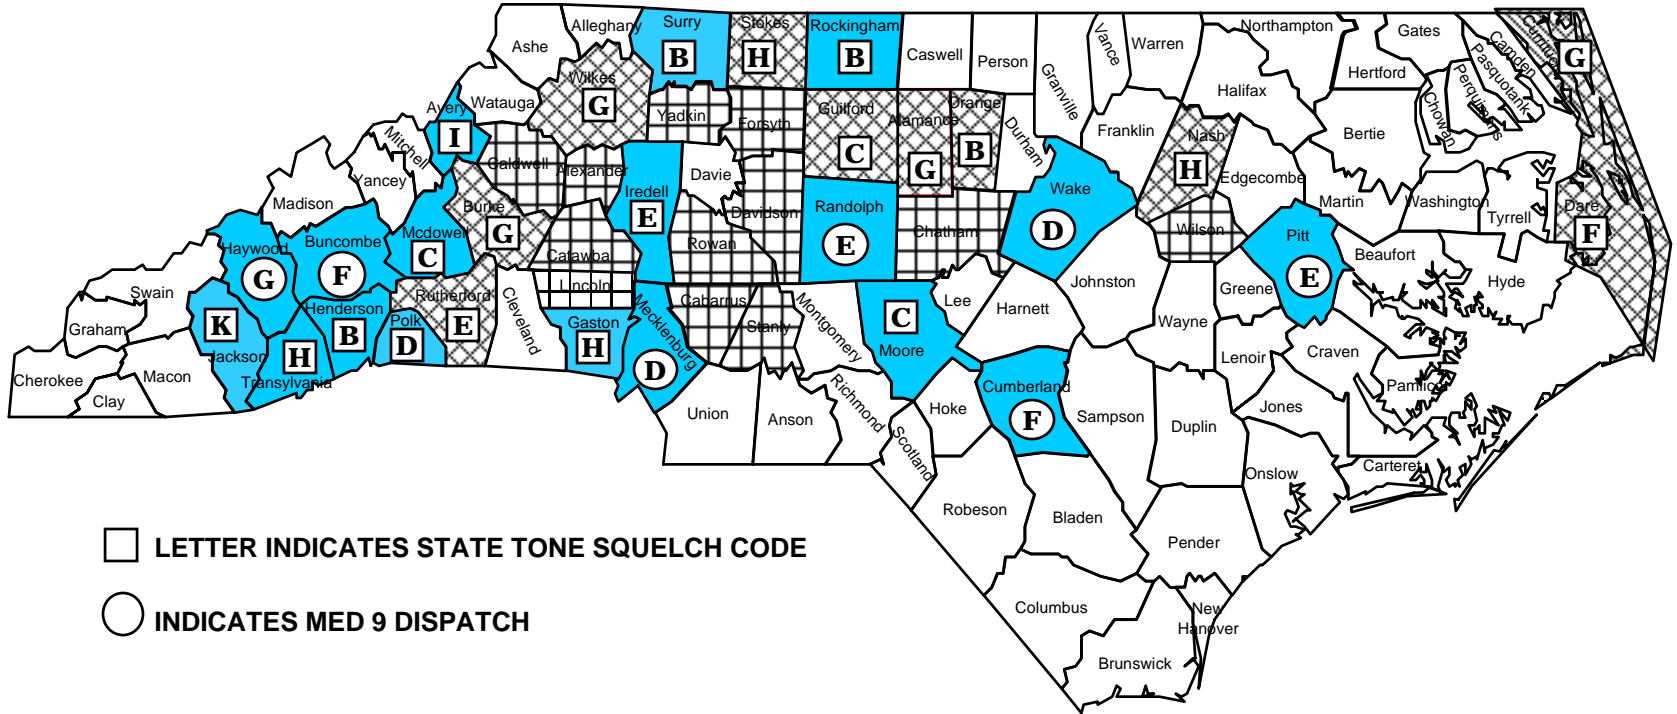

NOTE: It is very important that the letter of support from the State Office of EMS be received by the frequency coordinator at the same time as the FCC Forms. It has proven difficult to get these documents together after the license application has been mailed to the frequency coordinator.

North Carolina 800 MHz Systems

As Public Safety communications systems expand, agencies have started using the 800 MHz radio spectrum. Due to the way these systems operate, some in a conventional mode, some using a "trunked" system architecture, it is not easily possible to provide the information needed to communicate with these agencies. If you need to communicate into these Public Safety 800 MHz systems contact the system administrator listed below for assistance or information.

STONE CODED SQUELCH SYSTEMS

STONE CODE FREQUENCY CROSS-REFERENCE

Radio equipment manufacturers use different names or code identifiers to describe the continuous tone coded squelch systems (CTCSS) used in radio communications equipment. The various names and code plans sometimes make it difficult for a user to identify his own tone frequency. For example, Motorola Communications has trademarked the name "Private Line" or "PL" to describe their tone squelch system and General Electric uses the name "Channel Guard" or "CG." The tone systems are generally compatible if the tone frequency is the same.

The tone frequencies listed within this booklet are in Hertz (Hz). By using the cross-reference to convert your tone to hertz, you can determine if your radio is compatible with that of a different system.

For example, if you operate a Motorola radio and know your Private Line (PL) is "2A" your actual tone frequency is 114.8 Hertz. You can therefore communicate with any radio system with the same CTCSS tone.

REQUESTING A HELICOPTER TRANSPORT

After determining that a helicopter mission is necessary, call the selected service at the telephone number listed on the following pages. Be prepared to:

1. Give your name, title, agency requesting service, and a call back telephone number.
2. Give the patient's name and approximate age if known.
3. Provide information on the type of response. E.g.: roadside pickup or hospital transfer.
4. Identify the pickup site; name the city and county; give the direction and distance from prominent visual landmarks in the area. Provide the geographic longitude and latitude if they are known.
5. Give the destination of the patient. For transfers between hospitals give the patient's name, the receiving hospital and physician's name.
6. Give the nature and extent of injury or illnesses.
7. Specify any special equipment or medical care needed en route; give a brief medical history.
8. Identify the radio frequency and call identification to be used for air-to-ground communications at the pickup site.
9. Give the weather conditions at the pickup site.

LANDING SITE

Landing requires an area 60x60 feet (100x100 feet at night or in high winds). The area must be flat and clear of wires, trees, signs or loose objects such as trashcans, twigs, or ambulance sheets. If at night mark the landing area with crossed LOW BEAM headlights or emergency beacons. If road flares are used, be sure they are firmly secured to the ground.

HELISTOP/HELIPAD

Within the hospital agency listings, the symbol indicates there is a helipad or helistop reported to be located at the hospital.
